

PRESENTATION

The Mackenzie Law Review (Revista Direito Mackenzie - RDM) is pleased to present the second issue of Volume 19, featuring research that advances the debate on the impacts of the digital environment on Law, both from the perspective of citizenship and the transformations in economic power and their theoretical implications.

This edition includes discussions on algorithmic modulation and its legal repercussions, new configurations of personality rights, and the effects of digital technologies on the construction of individual and collective memory. In addition, it offers international contributions focusing on Italian law, providing reflections on contemporary transformations in the concept of citizenship.

We invite all readers to explore this second issue of 2025, which reaffirms RDM's commitment to disseminating critical, innovative, and socially relevant research in the legal field, featuring both national and international authors.

São Paulo, October 2025.

Academic Editor

Professor Doctor Felipe Chiarello de Souza Pinto

Executive Editor

Professor Doctor Marco Antonio Loschiavo Leme de Barros

SUMMARY

Economic Power and its Legal Limits

1. The classical-contemporary concept of personality rights and the (un)protection of economically vulnerable groups
2. Actiones populares in roman law in parallel with popular action in brazilian law: a proposal for a perspective between public and private for the protection of property

Citizenship Shaping the State

3. The citizenship in the Italian legal order: women's rights from the Civil Code of 1865 to law no. 555 of 1912
4. The vulnerability of the yanomami during the pandemic: the management of indigenous bodies under the Bolsonaro government
5. Presidential pardon: Bolsonaro's clemency in the Carandiru massacre
6. The (in)compatibility of article 385 of the Brazilian Code of Criminal Procedure with the adversarial system: a case study on inquisitorial persistence in the Superior Court of Justice's ruling in special appeal no. 2.022.413/PA

Historicism of Law and Legal Rationality and Social Systems

7. Memoria, teoria e narrazione. sfide per la sociologia nell'era digitale

8. The necessary protection of the general right to freedom in times of algorithmic modulation: social and legal responses
9. Society and sovereignty in modern political philosophy: reflections of the historical context
10. History of the judicial district of Santos